

Lecturer/Assistant Professor

Posting #FAED02-21

Education Faculty of Human and Health Sciences Term, Full-Time (1-year)

The University of Northern British Columbia invites applications for two term positions in the School of Education at the rank of Lecturer/Assistant Professor, with proposed starting date of July 1st, 2021. As an institution committed to the fostering of an inclusive and transformative learning environment, UNBC values high quality and growth in both teaching and scholarship.

These positions will be primarily responsible for instruction in the Prince George BEd Program, but may also teach in other School of Education program areas. We are particularly seeking individuals with qualification and experience in the Elementary BC curriculum and instruction, health, wellness, and career education, Indigenous education, and practicum instruction and evaluation of teacher candidates.

The BEd Program is an Elementary and Secondary Years teacher education program. Successful candidates for these two positions will demonstrate a record of instruction in teacher-education programs and mentorship of students in practice-based teaching experiences (e.g., immersive learning and practica). The School of Education invites applications from educators with broad backgrounds, who complement existing expertise within the School of Education, and are prepared to provide ongoing assessment and needed supports for Teacher Candidates as they prepare to lead their own classrooms.

Applicants for this position should hold a minimum of a Master's degree and have K-12 teaching experience and have a growing record of scholarly activity, as well as present evidence of and commitment to teaching excellence. For this position, we seek an individual who have or are eligible for registration with the BC Teaching Certification Branch.

About the University and its Community

Located in the spectacular landscape of northern British Columbia, UNBC is one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a core campus in Prince George and three regional campuses in Northern BC (Quesnel, Fort St. John and Terrace). We have a passion for teaching, discovery, people, the environment, and the North. Our region is comprised of friendly communities, offering a wide range of outdoor activities including exceptional skiing, canoeing and kayaking, fly fishing, hiking, and mountain biking. The lakes, forests and mountains of northern and central British Columbia offer an unparalleled natural environment in which to live and work.

UNBC provides outstanding undergraduate and graduate learning opportunities that explore cultures, health, economies, sciences, and the environment. As one of BC's leading research-intensive universities, we bring the excitement of new knowledge to our students, and the outcomes of our teaching and research to the world. In addition to fostering and celebrating academic excellence, UNBC is a welcoming place, with a learning environment that is friendly, inclusive, and supportive.

Small classes and a connected community exemplify UNBC and mean that our students and professors get to know one another. Outstanding academics, hands-on research, unlimited adventure and a tight-knit campus community result in strong student satisfaction at UNBC.

For the past 10 years, UNBC has placed in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's University Rankings, the only university of its size to achieve that feat. UNBC also recently placed among the top 4 per cent of higher education institutions worldwide in the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

For more information about living and working with the University of Northern British Columbia please refer to <http://www.unbc.ca/experience> and http://www.unbc.ca/provost/new_faculty.html . Make your mark with this leading post-secondary institution.

To Apply

Applicants should forward their cover letter indicating potential contributions to the Program, curriculum vitae, a brief statement of teaching approaches and research program, the names and addresses of three references (including telephone and email information), and the following form which can be found here: <https://www2.unbc.ca/sites/default/files/sections/human-resources/form-statementofeligibilitytoworkincanada-fillablepdf.pdf> quoting posting #FAED02-21 to:

Office of the Provost, University of Northern British Columbia
3333 University Way, Prince George, B.C., V2N 4Z9

Email submissions: FacultyRecruitment@unbc.ca
Inquiries: Dr. Tina Fraser, Chair of Education
Tina.Fraser@unbc.ca
250-960-5714

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. The University of Northern British Columbia is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from women, aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities and members of visible minorities.

We thank all applicants for their interest in UNBC however, only those applicants selected for further consideration will be contacted.

Applications received on or before June 4, 2021, will receive full consideration; however, applications will be accepted until the position is filled.